

AHSA considers maintaining the confidentiality and security of its members and vendors information of utmost importance. All users granted access to this information must agree to the statements, in their entirety, listed in this confidentiality and user statement. Each user must recognize the responsibilities entrusted to them in maintaining the privacy and confidentiality of this information. The following standards apply to all those granted access to information on the American HealthCare Services Association's (AHSA) official website.

By accepting this agreement, you consent to:

- Respect the privacy and confidentiality of all information contained on this site.
- Use only the information necessary to perform your job in the best interest of AHSA, its Members and its Vendors.
- Prevent unauthorized use of any information in files maintained, stored, or processed on this site.
- Not take advantage of, for personal benefit or allow others to benefit personally by, any information available through your access code.
- Not displaying or disclosing information to non-users, except as absolutely necessary to complete a work assignment.
- Post content or items in an inappropriate category or areas on the site;
- Violate any laws, third party rights, or policies such as HIPPA
- Manipulate contracted rates or fee structure.
- Post false, inaccurate, misleading, defamatory, or libelous content (including personal information).
- AHSA is not responsible for the content of any third-party site or service links. AHSA provides these links only as a convenience and does not endorse any third-party sites or services.
- You may not export any data from or via the AHSA website in any manner.

Understand that information accessed through this website contains sensitive and confidential information regarding candidates and members which must remain confidential.

In no event shall AHSA be liable for any incidental, consequential, punitive, special or indirect damages whatsoever including, but not limited to, damages for loss of profits or confidential information for business interruption, personal injury, loss of privacy, for failure to meet any duty including good faith or of reasonable care, for negligence and for any other pecuniary or other loss whatsoever arising out of or in any way related to the use or inability to use the AHSA website and related systems and processes.

By clicking the "I Accept" button and utilizing this website, you are stating that you have read, understand and will comply with all conditions outlined in this agreement. You also understand that a breach of any of the terms listed above and/or any other related privacy and/or confidentiality regulations, rules or laws will subject you, your organization, and its associates to penalties including, but not limited to, limiting, suspending, or terminating user accounts, prohibiting access to the AHSA website, cancellation of agency/member contract with AHSA, and/or appropriate legal action.

This Agreement is effective upon acceptance by each user of the official AHSA website.